Dear Authorized Distributor:

The purpose of this communication is to provide TE Connectivity Authorized Electronic Distributors with notification of a new master distributor program within our Aerospace Defense & Marine (AD&M) business unit.

The AD&M business unit has identified approximately 2200 part numbers that are historically low volume and have infrequent demand from customers. In lieu of making many of these part numbers obsolete, the AD&M business unit has elected to support these items via a master stocking distributor.

This program will enable the AD&M business unit to continue the supply of these low-volume products and enable you to enjoy improved support and stocking, thereby providing for more efficient manufacturing and supply of low-volume products. The AD&M business unit has selected TTI, Inc., as the Master stocking distributor for these items. TTI, Inc. is committed to ordering and stocking these items for immediate delivery to customers and TE authorized distributors. Effectively immediately, Authorized Electronic Distributors should direct their orders for these select items to the TTI Connect contacts noted below in support of your respective customer requirements.
